THIRD SUNDAY OF EASTER

My husband Cleopas and I decided to leave Jerusalem. We were heartbroken. We had hoped that Jesus, our beloved friend, would redeem Israel. But instead, the Romans crucified him. The Romans are beasts.

My husband Cleopas and I decided to leave Jerusalem. We were heartbroken. We had hoped that Jesus, our beloved friend, would redeem Israel. But instead, the Romans crucified him. The Romans are beasts.

Our group spent the next hours huddled together, terrified of the soldiers. This morning, three of the disciples went to the tomb with spices to anoint his body. They came running back with the wildest tale! They were screaming that his body is gone, that he has been raised! And even Peter ran to the tomb and found the burial cloths just lying there in the empty tomb.

People are crying and laughing and screaming and singing, “He has been raised!” But we aren’t naïve. We won’t be taken in by wishful thinking. The Jerusalem group can keep their joy. We saw him crucified. He had no power over the Romans. He wasn’t the one we’d hoped for after all.

But here’s the thing. On the road back to Emmaus, a stranger appeared on the road. He asked us why we were weeping. How could he not know? We started from the beginning, from the day three years ago when we heard about Jesus, and came to find him, and fell so in love with him. We told him about the friends we had made, friends we thought we’d have forever. It felt good to tell the story. In fact, our hearts were burning within us, just remembering him.

That Stranger was a good listener. Ha! How did we not recognize him? It was Jesus! As usual, we thought we were running away from him, but he was running towards us the whole time.

How does remembering the Story bring Jesus nearer?

Tercer Domingo de Pascua

Mi esposo Cleofas y yo decidimos abandonar Jerusalén. Estábamos desconsolados. Habíamos esperado que Jesús, nuestro amado amigo, redimiera a Israel. Pero en cambio, los romanos lo crucificaron. ¡Los romanos son unas bestias!

Nuestro grupo pasó las siguientes horas acobardado, aterrorizado por los soldados. Esta mañana, tres de los discípulos fueron al sepulcro con especias para ungir su cuerpo. ¡Regresaron corriendo con una historia increíble! ¡Gritaban que su cuerpo había desaparecido, que había resucitado! Incluso Pedro corrió al sepulcro y encontró las vendas allí, en la tumba vacía.

La gente está llorando, riendo, gritando y cantando: «¡Ha resucitado!». Pero no somos ingenuos. No nos dejaremos engañar por ilusiones. El grupo de Jerusalén puede quedarse con su alegría. Lo vimos crucificado. No tuvo poder sobre los romanos. Después de todo, no era quien esperábamos.

Pero he aquí la cuestión. De camino a Emaús, un desconocido apareció en el camino. Nos preguntó por qué llorábamos. ¿Cómo no lo sabía? Empezamos desde el principio, desde aquel día, hace tres años, en que oímos hablar de Jesús, fuimos a buscarlo y nos enamoramos perdidamente de él. Le contamos sobre los amigos que habíamos hecho, amigos que pensábamos que serían para siempre. Nos reconfortó contar la historia. De hecho, sentíamos que el corazón nos ardía al recordarlo.

Aquel desconocido sabía escuchar. ¡Ja! ¿Cómo no lo reconocimos? ¡Era Jesús! Como siempre, pensábamos que huíamos de él, pero él siempre estuvo corriendo a nuestro encuentro.

¿Cómo nos acerca a Jesús el recordar la historia?
