11TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

My heart always hurts a little when I read that sentence from today's gospel: Jesus' heart was moved with pity for them because they were troubled and abandoned, like sheep without a shepherd.

Nine months ago, our lives changed, and in all the good ways. My husband's cousin's 29-year-old daughter came to live with us while finishing her Masters in Engineering. Immediately, phones began to ring in our house again, and it was always HER phone, and always a new friend, and always hours of chatter.

How intoxicating it is to listen to her, on a summer night, out on the back porch, laughing and making plans with the actual friends (not fake Facebook friends) she makes every day.

I think the answer is in identity. She knows she's smart. I assume she knows she's beautiful. But her core identity is as a daughter, and sister, and granddaughter and, yes, second cousin.

In the nine months she's been in Denver I'll bet she's driven back to Salt Lake eight times to see her grandparents. It's extraordinary to see a young person realize, so early in life, that it's family that forms you, and, hence, gives you the building blocks to go out into the world to be a wonderful and engaged friend.

In the first reading today (Exodus 19: 2-6a), God tells us who we are: "My special possession, dearer to me than all other people, though all the earth is mine." Because they knew who they were, the apostles had the strength and spiritual background to say YES when Jesus called them. It hurts that so many people don't know that they are God's special possession. Tell somebody today.

How are you getting that Good News out to the world?

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

FAMILY FAITH FORMATION

A new religious education program has kicked off with children preparing for their Sacraments, and their parents, focusing on Holy Pauses – making family time with God. Now, through six Family Meetings at home over the summer, these families will learn, through discussion and hands-on activities, the basics of our faith, the Creed.

Religious education here at Immaculate Conception is shifting to a new family-centered approach called Pathway to Christ. This model for Faith Formation is designed to connect and support families as they encounter God, while learning and growing together in our Catholic faith. By supporting families with in-person, whole-family sessions and resources to hold at-home Family Meetings, we empower parents with the skills and support needed to enrich family life and faith.

The Pathway to Christ program will expand to reach families of children of all ages in Fall of 2027-2028; stay tuned for more information. In the meantime, please pray for the families and also the Pathway Team as our parish embarks on this new journey together.

PRAYER REQUESTS

Do you know someone who is in need of prayer? Please contact Sharon Stetson at 303-665-5181 or Cathy Gingras at 714-504-4626 to have their intention added to the prayer chain or if you want to become a prayer warrior.

ONCEAVO DOMINGO DE TIEMPO ORDINARIO

Siempre me duele un poco el corazón cuando leo esa frase del evangelio de hoy: Jesús se compadeció de ellos porque estaban afligidos y abandonados, como ovejas sin pastor.

Hace nueve meses, nuestras vidas cambiaron para bien. La hija de 29 años de la prima de mi esposo vino a vivir con nosotros mientras terminaba su maestría en ingeniería. Inmediatamente, los teléfonos volvieron a sonar en casa, y siempre era SU teléfono, siempre era una nueva amiga, siempre eran horas de plática.

Qué embriagador es escucharla, en una noche de verano, en el porche, riendo y haciendo planes con las amigas de verdad (no las de Facebook) que hace cada día.

Creo que la clave está en su identidad. Sabe que es inteligente. Supongo que sabe que es bonita. Pero su identidad fundamental es la de hija, hermana, nieta y, sí, prima segunda.

En los nueve meses que lleva en Denver, apuesto a que ha vuelto a Salt Lake City ocho veces para ver a sus abuelos. Es extraordinario ver a una persona joven darse cuenta, tan temprano en la vida, de que la familia es la que te forma y, por lo tanto, te da las bases para convertirte en un amigo maravilloso y leal.

En la primera lectura de hoy (Éxodo 19:2-6a), Dios nos revela quiénes somos: «serán mi pueblo preferido entre todos los pueblos, pues toda la tierra me pertenece». Gracias a que sabían quiénes eran, los apóstoles tuvieron la fortaleza y la base espiritual para decir Sí cuando Dios los llamó.

Duele que tanta gente no sepa que para Dios, son un tesoro especial. Cuéntaselo a alguien hoy.
