EIGHTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

What a moment that must have been. Imagine turning over to Jesus everything you had left to eat while traveling with him to that "deserted place." Between them they only had five loaves and two fish. I suspect they had already portioned that out in their minds as they looked forward to dinner. And now he's asking them to turn that over!

Imagine watching him take, bless, break and share that humble offering, and then passing it out to the enormous crowd who had followed him out to that place, begging him to cure their sick. But wait. What is happening? The crowd is eating contentedly. From whence has come all this food?

Matthew's gospel is filled with Jewish allusions, because his audience is Jewish and he shapes his memories so that they will resonate with the stories. Hence, he is careful to note that everyone is spread out on the grass, evoking Psalm 23:2, "in green pastures he gives me repose." Somehow there is plenty to eat, and look, there are TWELVE (evoking the twelve tribes of Israel) wicker baskets of food left over.

In contrast, when St. Luke recounts this famous moment to his Gentile audience (9:10-17) he leaves off these evocative Jewish phrases.

There is a famous and touching mosaic found on the floor of a fourth-century church on the northwestern shore of Lake Galilee, the site where Jesus is thought to have performed this miracle. The two fish and the plate holding the loaves are clearly visible. But here's the real miracle: there are only four loaves on the plate.

That fifth loaf? That's you and me, and the whole Church, whose mission is to be leaven for the world.

How are you participating in this Eucharistic miracle?

DECIMO OCTAVO DE TIEMPO ORDINARIO

¡Qué momento tan impactante debió ser! Imagínate entregarle a Jesús todo lo que te quedaba de comida mientras viajabas con él a aquel lugar desierto. Para dos personas, solo tenían cinco panes y dos peces. Sospecho que ya habían calculado en sus mentes cuánto le tocaría a cada uno mientras esperaban con ansias la cena. ¡Y ahora les pide que le entreguen todo!

Imagínate verlo tomar, bendecir, partir y compartir esa humilde ofrenda, y luego repartirla entre la enorme multitud que lo había seguido hasta allí, rogándole que curara a sus enfermos.

Pero espera. ¿Qué está pasando? La multitud come hasta llenarse. ¿De dónde ha salido toda esta comida?

El evangelio de Mateo está repleto de referencias judías, porque su público es judío y él moldea sus recuerdos para que resuenen con las historias. Por eso, se preocupa de señalar que todos están tumbados sobre la hierba, evocando el Salmo 23:2: «En verdes prados me hace descansar». De alguna manera, hay comida en abundancia, y miren, sobran doce cestas de mimbre (que evocan a las doce tribus de Israel).

En cambio, cuando San Lucas relata este famoso momento a su audiencia gentil (9:10-17), omite estas evocadoras frases judías.

Existe un famoso y conmovedor mosaico que se encuentra en el piso de una iglesia del siglo IV en la orilla noroeste del lago de Galilea, el lugar donde se cree que Jesús realizó este milagro. Los dos peces y el plato con los panes se ven claramente. Pero he aquí el verdadero milagro: solo hay cuatro panes en el plato.

¿Ese quinto pan? Somos tú, yo y toda la Iglesia, cuya misión es ser levadura para el mundo.

¿Cuál sería tu primera petición a Dios?
