TWENTY- SEVENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

This week's second reading still strikes at the heart. St. Paul begins this passage (Philippians 4:6-9) with that astounding consolation: Have no anxiety about anything, but in everything by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving.

Seriously? Because I could name at least a dozen things right now which merit huge anxiety. But these words are coming from St. Paul, who lived in danger of persecution and martyrdom every day. And he follows those beautiful words with advice on how to live a richer life.

Whatever is true: Forget trying to figure out what's AI and what isn't. We can search our hearts and find ways in which we are not being true to who we can be.

Whatever is honorable. We recognize honor when we see it, don't we? I'm thinking of exhausted parents who, God bless them, rouse themselves at the sound of their child's cry.

Whatever is just. It's so easy to skirt this one, especially at tax time. The just people pay their way, and help those who can't.

Whatever is pure. It's easy to see the friendship, work, or love that is free from the shortcuts that end up destroying everything.

Whatever is lovely. We know when we are in the presence of beauty. This time of year pretty much gets the prize for lovely.

Whatever is gracious. I think this is my favorite. I LOVE being around gracious people. These are the ones who makes us feel utterly welcomed, utterly loved, utterly at home.

It's our encounter with people who live these adjectives that makes life so rich. Do you long for a richer life? Think on these things.

Which of the above adjectives best describes you?

VIGÉSIMO SÉPTIMO DOMINGO DE TIEMPO ORDINARIO

La segunda lectura de esta semana sigue llegando a lo más profundo del corazón. San Pablo comienza este pasaje (Filipenses 4, 6-9) con este consuelo extraordinario: No se aflijan por nada, sino preséntenselo todo a Dios en oración; pídanle, y denle gracias también.

¿En serio? Porque ahora mismo podría mencionar al menos una docena de cosas que justifican una gran ansiedad. Pero estas palabras provienen de San Pablo, quien vivía cada día bajo la amenaza de la persecución y el martirio. Y, tras esas hermosas palabras, ofrece consejos sobre cómo vivir una vida más plena.

Todo lo que es verdadero: olvídate de intentar averiguar qué es IA y qué no lo es. Podemos examinar nuestro corazón y descubrir de qué maneras no estamos siendo fieles a quienes podemos llegar a ser.

Todo lo que es honorable. Reconocemos el honor cuando lo vemos, ¿verdad? Pienso en los padres agotados que —que Dios los bendiga— se levantan al oír el llanto de su bebé.

Todo lo que es justo. Es muy fácil eludir esto, especialmente en la época de impuestos. Las personas justas cumplen con sus obligaciones y ayudan a quienes no pueden hacerlo.

Todo lo que es puro. Es fácil reconocer la amistad, el trabajo o el amor que no son afectados por los atajos que terminan destruyéndolo todo.

Todo lo que es hermoso. Sabemos cuándo estamos ante la belleza. Esta época del año se lleva, sin duda, el premio a la belleza.

Todo lo que es amable. Creo que esta es mi cualidad favorita. Me ENCANTA rodearme de personas amables. Son aquellas que nos hacen sentir plenamente bienvenidos, plenamente amados y como en casa.

Es nuestro encuentro con personas que encarnan estos adjetivos lo que hace que la vida sea tan rica. ¿Anhelas una vida más plena? Reflexiona sobre estas cosas.

¿Cuál de los adjetivos anteriores te describe mejor?
